Introduction

- [1] The hearing resulted from a Complaint into the conduct of the Respondent and a Board resolution under regulation 10 of the Complaints Regulations¹ to hold a hearing in relation to building work at [Omitted]. The alleged disciplinary offence the Board resolved to investigate was that the Respondent failed, without good reason, in respect of a building consent that relates to restricted building work that he or she is to carry out (other than as an owner-builder) or supervise, or has carried out (other than as an owner-builder) or supervised, (as the case may be), to provide the persons specified in section 88(2) with a record of work, on completion of the restricted building work, in accordance with section 88(1) (s 317(1)(da)(ii) of the Act).

Function of Disciplinary Action

- [2] The common understanding of the purpose of professional discipline is to uphold the integrity of the profession. The focus is not punishment, but the protection of the public, the maintenance of public confidence and the enforcement of high standards of propriety and professional conduct. Those purposes were recently reiterated by the Supreme Court of the United Kingdom in *R v Institute of Chartered Accountants in England and Wales*² and in New Zealand in *Dentice v Valuers Registration Board*³.
- [3] Disciplinary action under the Act is not designed to redress issues or disputes between a complainant and a respondent. In *McLanahan and Tan v The New Zealand Registered Architects Board*⁴ Collins J. noted that:

² R v Institute of Chartered Accountants in England and Wales [2011] UKSC 1, 19 January 2011.

³ [1992] 1 NZLR 720 at p 724

⁴ [2016] HZHC 2276 at para 164

“... the disciplinary process does not exist to appease those who are dissatisfied The disciplinary process ... exists to ensure professional standards are maintained in order to protect clients, the profession and the broader community.”

- [4] The Board can only inquire into “the conduct of a licensed building practitioner” with respect to the grounds for discipline set out in section 317 of the Act. It does not have any jurisdiction over contractual matters.

Evidence

- [5] The Board must be satisfied on the balance of probabilities that the disciplinary offences alleged have been committed⁵. Under section 322 of the Act the Board has relaxed rules of evidence which allow it to receive evidence that may not be admissible in a court of law.
- [6] The procedure the Board uses is inquisitorial, not adversarial. The Board examines the documentary evidence available to it prior to the hearing. The hearing is an opportunity for the Board, as the inquirer and decision maker, to call and question witnesses to further investigate aspects of the evidence and to take further evidence from key witnesses. The hearing is not a review of all of the available evidence.
- [7] The Respondent was a licensed building practitioner involved in a renovation of an existing dwelling. The building work was carried out under a building consent and included restricted building work.
- [8] The building work started on or about 6 March 2015. It proceeded until a contractual dispute arose in August 2015. Discussions ensued between the Complainant and Selah Construction who contracted to complete the building work and for whom the Respondent worked.
- [9] On 23 December 2015 an agreement was reached to resolve the dispute. The agreement provided for remedial work that needed to be carried out. The Respondent maintained that the remedial work included restricted building work in that items noted in a final inspection of 18 February 2016 had to be completed.
- [10] The remedial work was carried out by other contractors. Selah were aware that this would occur having been advised by the Complainant. Further email correspondence from Selah on 15 February 2016 included a request for those other contractors to apply silicone.
- [11] On 19 March 2016 the Respondent sent an email to the Complainant noting the Complainant had sought a code compliance certificate. He stated:

We acknowledge your request for CCC documentation at [Omitted], on payment of the outstanding bills we will have these documents issued.

⁵ Z v Dental Complaints Assessment Committee [2009] 1 NZLR 1

- [12] On 22 September 2016 the Complainant's lawyer advised Selah that the contract was cancelled due to the failure to adhere to the terms of the 23 December 2015 agreement.
- [13] A record of work dated 31 October 2016 was then provided.

Board's Conclusion and Reasoning

- [14] The Board has decided that the Respondent has failed, without good reason, in respect of a building consent that relates to restricted building work that he or she is to carry out (other than as an owner-builder) or supervise, or has carried out (other than as an owner-builder) or supervised, (as the case may be), to provide the persons specified in section 88(2) with a record of work, on completion of the restricted building work, in accordance with section 88(1) (s 317(1)(da)(ii) of the Act) and should be disciplined.
- [15] There is a statutory requirement under section 88(1) of the Building Act 2004 for a licensed building practitioner to provide a record of work to the owner and the territorial authority on completion of restricted building work⁶.
- [16] The starting point with a record of work is that it is a mandatory statutory requirement whenever restricted building work under a building consent is carried out or supervised by a licensed building practitioner (other than as an owner-builder). Each and every licensed building practitioner who carries out restricted building work must provide a record of work.
- [17] The statutory provisions do not stipulate a timeframe for the licenced person to provide a record of work. The provisions in section 88(1) simply states "on completion of the restricted building work ...".
- [18] The question for the present matter is when did completion occur.
- [19] In most situations questions as to when completion occurs and when the record of work should be provided do not arise. The work progresses and records of work are provided in a timely fashion. Contractual disputes or intervening events can, however, lead to situations where the licensed practitioner, owner, or territorial authority's perceptions as to when the record of work must be provided may differ.
- [20] In the present case there are two matters which may impact on the question of when the restricted building work was complete. The first is the status of the remedial work and the second is the ongoing commercial dispute.
- [21] The Board has stated in previous cases that where there is a genuine commercial dispute which is being negotiated, restricted building work that has to be completed, and a realistic possibility of the licensed building practitioner being able to return to complete the restricted building work the requirement to provide a record of work may not arise until such time as the negotiations are complete. If the negotiations result in the restricted building work being carried out then a record of work will be required when that work is complete. If the negotiations do not result in further restricted building work being carried out then the obligation to provide a record of work then arises.

- [22] In the present case there was a commercial dispute which was on going until 23 September 2016 and a record of work was provided on 31 October 2016. If there was further restricted building work that had to be completed at this date then the record of work might arguably have been provided within a reasonable period of time.
- [23] The evidence before the Board, however, showed that what was being claimed as outstanding restricted building work had, in fact, been completed by other contractors in or about April 2016 and that the Respondent knew or should have known of this.
- [24] There was also an email from the Respondent on 19 March 2016 noting that a code compliance certificate was being sought by the Complainant which stated required documents were being withheld for commercial reasons.
- [25] Given the above the Board finds that a record of work should have been provided within a short time of the Respondent completing work on or about 19 March 2016 at the earliest, or April 2016 at the latest. It was not and on this basis the Board finds that the disciplinary offence has been committed.
- [26] Section 317(1)(da)(ii) of the Act provides for a defence of the licenced building practitioner having a “good reason” for failing to provide a record of work. If they can, on the balance of probabilities, prove to the Board that one exists then it is open to the Board to find that a disciplinary offence has not been committed. Each case will be decided by the Board on its own merits but the threshold for a good reason is high.
- [27] The Respondent has raised that the restricted building work was not complete. This has already been dealt with above. The restricted building work was complete in March 2016 well before the record of work was provided.

Penalty, Costs and Publication

- [28] Having found that one or more of the grounds in section 317 applies the Board must, under section 318 of the Actⁱ, consider the appropriate disciplinary penalty, whether the Respondent should be ordered to pay any costs and whether the decision should be published.
- [29] The matter was dealt with on the papers. Included was information relevant to penalty, costs and publication and the Board has decided to make indicative orders and give the Respondent an opportunity to provide further evidence or submissions relevant to the indicative orders.

Penalty

[30] The purpose of professional discipline is to uphold the integrity of the profession; the focus is not punishment, but the enforcement of a high standard of propriety and professional conduct. The Board does note, however, that the High Court in *Patel v Complaints Assessment Committee*⁷ commented on the role of "punishment" in giving penalty orders stating that punitive orders are, at times, necessary to provide a deterrent and to uphold professional standards. The Court noted:

[28] I therefore propose to proceed on the basis that, although the protection of the public is a very important consideration, nevertheless the issues of punishment and deterrence must also be taken into account in selecting the appropriate penalty to be imposed.

[31] The Board also notes that in *Lochhead v Ministry of Business Innovation and Employment*⁸ the court noted that whilst the statutory principles of sentencing set out in the Sentencing Act 2002 do not apply to the Building Act they have the advantage of simplicity and transparency. The court recommended adopting a starting point for penalty based on the seriousness of the disciplinary offending prior to considering any aggravating and/or mitigating factors.

[32] Record of work matters are at the lower end of the disciplinary scale. The Board's normal starting point for a failure to provide a record of work is a fine of $1,500.

[33] The Board notes that the present case is somewhat complicated by the commercial dispute which the Respondent has been caught up in. It also notes that once the commercial relationship finally came to an end a record of work was provided.

[34] On this basis the Board has decided that it will censure the Respondent. A censure is a formal expression of disapproval.

Costs

[35] Under section 318(4) the Board may require the Respondent "to pay the costs and expenses of, and incidental to, the inquiry by the Board."

[36] The Respondent should note that the High Court has held that 50% of total reasonable costs should be taken as a starting point in disciplinary proceedings and that the percentage can then be adjusted up or down having regard to the particular circumstances of each case⁹.

[37] In *Collie v Nursing Council of New Zealand*¹⁰ where the order for costs in the tribunal was 50% of actual costs and expenses the High Court noted that:

⁷ HC Auckland CIV-2007-404-1818, 13 August 2007 at p 27

⁸ 3 November 2016, CIV-2016-070-000492, [2016] NZDC 21288

⁹ Cooray v The Preliminary Proceedings Committee HC, Wellington, AP23/94, 14 September 1995, Macdonald v Professional Conduct Committee, HC, Auckland, CIV 2009-404-1516, 10 July 2009, Owen v Wynyard HC, Auckland, CIV-2009-404-005245, 25 February 2010.

¹⁰ [2001] NZAR 74

But for an order for costs made against a practitioner, the profession is left to carry the financial burden of the disciplinary proceedings, and as a matter of policy that is not appropriate.

- [38] The Board notes the matter was dealt with at a hearing having been set down to be heard on the papers. Ordinarily costs for a hearing would be in the order of $1,000 and those for an on the papers hearing would be $500. In this instance the Board acknowledges that the hearing was of value and as such it orders that the costs be retained at the level of an on the papers hearing.

Publication

- [39] As a consequence of its decision the Respondent's name and the disciplinary outcomes will be recorded in the public register maintained as part of the Licensed Building Practitioners' scheme as is required by the Act¹¹. The Board is also able, under section 318(5) of the Act, to order publication over and above the public register:

In addition to requiring the Registrar to notify in the register an action taken by the Board under this section, the Board may publicly notify the action in any other way it thinks fit.

- [40] As a general principle such further public notification may be required where the Board perceives a need for the public and/or the profession to know of the findings of a disciplinary hearing. This is in addition to the Respondent being named in this decision.
- [41] Within New Zealand there is a principle of open justice and open reporting which is enshrined in the Bill of Rights Act 1990¹². The Criminal Procedure Act 2011 sets out grounds for suppression within the criminal jurisdiction¹³. Within the disciplinary hearing jurisdiction the courts have stated that the provisions in the Criminal Procedure Act do not apply but can be instructive¹⁴. The High Court provided guidance as to the types of factors to be taken into consideration in *N v Professional Conduct Committee of Medical Council*¹⁵.
- [42] The courts have also stated that an adverse finding in a disciplinary case usually requires that the name of the practitioner be published in the public interest¹⁶. It is, however, common practice in disciplinary proceedings to protect the names of other persons involved as naming them does not assist the public interest.
- [43] Based on the above the Board will not order further publication. It will, however, take steps to communicate the general findings with licensed building practitioners.

Section 318 Order

[44] For the reasons set out above, the Board directs that:

Penalty: Pursuant to section 318(1)(d) of the Building Act 2004, the Respondent is censured.

Costs: Pursuant to section 318(4) of the Act, the Respondent is ordered to pay costs of $500 (GST included) towards the costs of, and incidental to, the inquiry of the Board.

Publication: The Registrar shall record the Board's action in the Register of Licensed Building Practitioners in accordance with section 301(1)(iii) of the Act.

In terms of section 318(5) of the Act, there will not be action taken to publicly notify the Board's action, except for the note in the Register and the Respondent being named in this decision.

[45] The Respondent should note that the Board may, under section 319 of the Act, suspend or cancel a licensed building practitioner's licence if fines or costs imposed as a result of disciplinary action are not paid.

Submissions on Penalty, Costs and Publication

[46] The Board invites the Respondent to make written submissions on the matters of disciplinary penalty, costs and publication up until close of business on 20 November 2018. The submissions should focus on mitigating matters as they relate to the penalty, costs and publication orders. If no submissions are received then this decision will become final. If submissions are received then the Board will meet and consider those submissions prior to coming to a final decision on penalty, costs and publication.

[47] In calling for submissions on penalty, costs and mitigation the Board is not inviting the Respondent to offer new evidence or to express an opinion on the findings set out in this decision. If the Respondent disagrees with the Board's findings of fact and and/or its decision that the Respondent has committed a disciplinary offence the Respondent can appeal the Board's decision.

Right of Appeal

[48] The right to appeal Board decisions is provided for in section 330(2) of the Actⁱⁱ.
