Introduction

[1] The hearing resulted from a complaint into the conduct of the Respondent and a Board resolution under regulation 10 of the Complaints Regulations<sup>1</sup> to hold a hearing in relation to building work at 7 Davern Lane, New Lynn, Auckland. The alleged disciplinary offence the Board resolved to investigate was that the Respondent failed, without good reason, in respect of a building consent that relates to restricted building work that he or she is to carry out (other than as an owner-builder) or supervise, or has carried out (other than as an owner-builder) or supervised, (as the case may be), to provide the persons specified in section 88(2) with a record of work, on completion of the restricted building work, in accordance with section 88(1) (s 317(1)(da)(ii) of the Act).

Function of Disciplinary Action

[2] The common understanding of the purpose of professional discipline is to uphold the integrity of the profession. The focus is not punishment, but the protection of the public, the maintenance of public confidence and the enforcement of high standards of propriety and professional conduct. Those purposes were recently reiterated by the Supreme Court of the United Kingdom in R v Institute of Chartered Accountants in England and Wales<sup>2</sup> and in New Zealand in Dentice v Valuers Registration Board<sup>3</sup>.

- [3] Disciplinary action under the Act is not designed to redress issues or disputes between a complainant and a respondent. In McLanahan and Tan v The New Zealand Registered Architects Board<sup>4</sup> Collins J. noted that:

“... the disciplinary process does not exist to appease those who are dissatisfied ... . The disciplinary process ... exists to ensure professional standards are maintained in order to protect clients, the profession and the broader community.”

- [4] The Board can only inquire into “the conduct of a licensed building practitioner” with respect to the grounds for discipline set out in section 317 of the Act. It does not have any jurisdiction over contractual matters.

Evidence

- [5] The Board must be satisfied on the balance of probabilities that the disciplinary offences alleged have been committed<sup>5</sup>. Under section 322 of the Act the Board has relaxed rules of evidence which allow it to receive evidence that may not be admissible in a court of law.
- [6] The procedure the Board uses is inquisitorial, not adversarial. The Board examines the documentary evidence available to it prior to the hearing. The hearing is an opportunity for the Board, as the inquirer and decision maker, to call and question witnesses to further investigate aspects of the evidence and to take further evidence from key witnesses.
- [7] In this case the Board decided that no further evidence was required. If a Respondent provides further evidence or submissions the Board takes them into account. If they request an in-person hearing this is given consideration.
- [8] The Respondent was engaged to carry out an alteration and extension to a residential dwelling under a building consent. Work started in late January 2017 and came to an end in mid-November 2017 with the termination of the contract. A record of work for the restricted building work carried out has not been provided. Requests were made for one by the Complainant in March 2018. The Complainant noted that the Respondent had advised that he would provide a record of work once a trespass notice that had been issued had expired.
- [9] The Respondent provided a response to the complaint. In it he submitted a record of work is required on completion and that the work was not complete. He also noted that others had carried out restricted building work and that he could not be expected to provide a record of work for others. He also submitted:

Secondly, in relation to any restricted building works that was completed by us I was not sure the best way to document this due to other contractors being involved in the project outside of my control, so I went to the Auckland

- 1. Review all completed work to make sure no changes/alterations had been done to any restricted works by the new contractors; and*
- 2. Take photographic evidence of all work and submit with the record of work.*

I informed the client/property owner via email on the 17th July 2018 after this meeting that I would have to review all work, considering it had been some time since I had been on site and the client/property owner has had other contractors working on the same project this is not a unreasonable request, unfortunately as detailed in the clients/property owners compliant application, Part 4, Page 5, I was issues with a Trespass notice on the 18th November 2017 and therefore can not enter the property.

How can I be deemed to have supervised the restricted building work if I am able to view it?

- [10] The Respondent also stated that the non-provision of a record of work was not as a result of any commercial disputes or monies owing.

Board's Conclusion and Reasoning

- [11] The Board has decided that the Respondent has failed, without good reason, in respect of a building consent that relates to restricted building work that he or she is to carry out (other than as an owner-builder) or supervise, or has carried out (other than as an owner-builder) or supervised, (as the case may be), to provide the persons specified in section 88(2) with a record of work, on completion of the restricted building work, in accordance with section 88(1) (s 317(1)(da)(ii) of the Act) and should be disciplined.
- [12] There is a statutory requirement under section 88(1) of the Building Act 2004 for a licensed building practitioner to provide a record of work to the owner and the territorial authority on completion of restricted building work<sup>6</sup>.
- [13] Failing to provide a record of work is a ground for discipline under section 317(1)(da)(ii) of the Act. The Board discussed issues with regard to records of work in its decision C2-01170<sup>7</sup> and gave guidelines to the profession as to who must provide a record of work, what a record of work is for, when it is to be provided, the level of detail that must be provided, who a record of work must be provided to and what might constitute a good reason for not providing a record of work.
- [14] The starting point with a record of work is that it is a mandatory statutory requirement whenever restricted building work under a building consent is carried out or supervised by a licensed building practitioner (other than as an owner-builder). Each and every licensed building practitioner who carries out restricted building work must provide a record of work.

- [15] The statutory provisions do not stipulate a timeframe for the licenced person to provide a record of work. The provisions in section 88(1) simply states “on completion of the restricted building work ...”.
- [16] The Respondent has submitted that the restricted building work was not complete and, by inference, that a record of work was not due.
- [17] The facts before the Board were that the Respondent was trespassed from the building site in November 2017 and that the remainder of the building work was carried out by other persons. In previous decisions the Board has stated that when the point in time arises where a licensed building practitioner is not be able to carry out any further restricted building work completion will be deemed to have occurred, irrespective of whether all of the intended restricted building work has actually been completed. The reasoning is that if completion only occurred when all of the intended work was complete there would be situations where, as a result of intervening events, a record of work would never fall due as the full scope of restricted building work is not completed. On this basis the submission is rejected.
- [18] The Respondent has also submitted that he could not provide a record of work until such time as he had checked the work of others.
- [19] A record of work is not a statement as to the quality or compliance of the restricted building work. It is not a “sign off” of the work. It is simply a statement as to who did or supervised what. In this respect the Respondent should have been fully aware of what the restricted building work was that he carried out or supervised. An inspection is not required to verify that work. An inspection or review may be of value to the Respondent for other purposes but it is not necessary in order to provide a record of work. The licensed building practitioners who carried on or finished the restricted building work will be required to complete their own records of work. The Respondent cannot provide one for them as he could not have supervised them.
- [20] The Respondent should also note that a record of work given by a licensed building practitioner does not, of itself, create any liability, that would not otherwise exist. This is because as section 88(4) provides:
- (4) A record of work given under subsection (1) does not, of itself,— create any liability in relation to any matter to which the record of work relates; or give rise to any civil liability to the owner that would not otherwise exist if the licensed building practitioner were not required to provide the record of work.

- [21] Based on the above the Board finds that completion occurred in November 2017. A record of work has not been provided. On this basis the Board finds that the record of work was not provided on completion as required and the disciplinary offence has been committed.
- [22] Section 317(1)(da)(ii) of the Act provides for a defence of the licenced building practitioner having a "good reason" for failing to provide a record of work. If they can, on the balance of probabilities, prove to the Board that one exists then it is open to the Board to find that a disciplinary offence has not been committed. Each case will be decided by the Board on its own merits but the threshold for a good reason is high.
- [23] The reasons for not providing a record of work put forward by the Respondent have already been discussed and dealt with. There are no other goods reasons present.

Penalty, Costs and Publication

- [24] Having found that one or more of the grounds in section 317 applies the Board must, under section 318 of the Act<sup>1</sup>, consider the appropriate disciplinary penalty, whether the Respondent should be ordered to pay any costs and whether the decision should be published.
- [25] The matter was dealt with on the papers. Included was information relevant to penalty, costs and publication and the Board has decided to make indicative orders and give the Respondent an opportunity to provide further evidence or submissions relevant to the indicative orders.

Penalty

- [26] The purpose of professional discipline is to uphold the integrity of the profession; the focus is not punishment, but the enforcement of a high standard of propriety and professional conduct. The Board does note, however, that the High Court in Patel v Complaints Assessment Committee<sup>8</sup> commented on the role of "punishment" in giving penalty orders stating that punitive orders are, at times, necessary to provide a deterrent and to uphold professional standards. The Court noted:

[28] I therefore propose to proceed on the basis that, although the protection of the public is a very important consideration, nevertheless the issues of punishment and deterrence must also be taken into account in selecting the appropriate penalty to be imposed.

- [27] The Board also notes that in Lochhead v Ministry of Business Innovation and Employment<sup>9</sup> the court noted that whilst the statutory principles of sentencing set out in the Sentencing Act 2002 do not apply to the Building Act they have the advantage of simplicity and transparency. The court recommended adopting a starting point for penalty based on the seriousness of the disciplinary offending prior to considering any aggravating and/or mitigating factors.

- [28] Record of work matters are at the lower end of the disciplinary scale. The Board's normal starting point for a failure to provide a record of work is a fine of $1,500. There are no reasons to depart from this starting point.
- [29] The Board does note that the Respondent was recently disciplined for similar offending. This has not been taken into consideration in setting the penalty as the Board recognises that the conduct in this disciplinary matter predated the decision in the other disciplinary matter.

Costs

- [30] Under section 318(4) the Board may require the Respondent "to pay the costs and expenses of, and incidental to, the inquiry by the Board."
- [31] The Respondent should note that the High Court has held that 50% of total reasonable costs should be taken as a starting point in disciplinary proceedings and that the percentage can then be adjusted up or down having regard to the particular circumstances of each case<sup>10</sup>.
- [32] In Collie v Nursing Council of New Zealand<sup>11</sup> where the order for costs in the tribunal was 50% of actual costs and expenses the High Court noted that:

But for an order for costs made against a practitioner, the profession is left to carry the financial burden of the disciplinary proceedings, and as a matter of policy that is not appropriate.

- [33] The Board notes the matter was dealt with on the papers. Ordinarily costs for a hearing would be in the order of $1,000 but the Board has reduced this to $500 being an amount the Board considers is reasonable for the Respondent to pay toward the costs and expenses of, and incidental to, the inquiry by the Board.

Publication

- [34] As a consequence of its decision the Respondent's name and the disciplinary outcomes will be recorded in the public register maintained as part of the Licensed Building Practitioners' scheme as is required by the Act<sup>12</sup>. The Board is also able, under section 318(5) of the Act, to order publication over and above the public register:

In addition to requiring the Registrar to notify in the register an action taken by the Board under this section, the Board may publicly notify the action in any other way it thinks fit.

- [35] As a general principle such further public notification may be required where the Board perceives a need for the public and/or the profession to know of the findings of a disciplinary hearing. This is in addition to the Respondent being named in this decision.
- [36] Within New Zealand there is a principle of open justice and open reporting which is enshrined in the Bill of Rights Act 1990<sup>13</sup>. The Criminal Procedure Act 2011 sets out grounds for suppression within the criminal jurisdiction<sup>14</sup>. Within the disciplinary hearing jurisdiction the courts have stated that the provisions in the Criminal Procedure Act do not apply but can be instructive<sup>15</sup>. The High Court provided guidance as to the types of factors to be taken into consideration in N v Professional Conduct Committee of Medical Council<sup>16</sup>.
- [37] The courts have also stated that an adverse finding in a disciplinary case usually requires that the name of the practitioner be published in the public interest<sup>17</sup>. It is, however, common practice in disciplinary proceedings to protect the names of other persons involved as naming them does not assist the public interest.
- [38] Based on the above the Board will not order further publication.

Section 318 Order

- [39] For the reasons set out above, the Board directs that:

Penalty: Pursuant to section 318(1)(f) of the Building Act 2004, the Respondent is ordered to pay a fine of $1,500.

Costs: Pursuant to section 318(4) of the Act, the Respondent is ordered to pay costs of $500 (GST included) towards the costs of, and incidental to, the inquiry of the Board.

Publication: The Registrar shall record the Board's action in the Register of Licensed Building Practitioners in accordance with section 301(1)(iii) of the Act.

In terms of section 318(5) of the Act, there will not be action taken to publicly notify the Board's action, except for the note in the Register and the Respondent being named in this decision.

- [40] The Respondent should note that the Board may, under section 319 of the Act, suspend or cancel a licensed building practitioner's licence if fines or costs imposed as a result of disciplinary action are not paid.

Submissions on Penalty, Costs and Publication

- [41] The Board invites the Respondent to make written submissions on the matters of disciplinary penalty, costs and publication up until close of business on 21 June 2019. The submissions should focus on mitigating matters as they relate to the penalty, costs and publication orders. If no submissions are received then this decision will become final. If submissions are received then the Board will meet and consider those submissions prior to coming to a final decision on penalty, costs and publication.
- [42] In calling for submissions on penalty, costs and mitigation the Board is not inviting the Respondent to offer new evidence or to express an opinion on the findings set out in this decision. If the Respondent disagrees with the Board's findings of fact and and/or its decision that the Respondent has committed a disciplinary offence the Respondent can appeal the Board's decision.

Right of Appeal

- [43] The right to appeal Board decisions is provided for in section 330(2) of the Act<sup>ii</sup>.
