

BPB Complaint No. C2-01475

IN THE MATTER OF

Under the Building Act 2004 (the Act)

A complaint to the Building Practitioners Board under section 315 of the Act

AGAINST

Jason Tawhai, Licensed Building Practitioner
No. BP 127167

DECISION OF THE BUILDING PRACTITIONERS' BOARD

Introduction

- [1] The Complainant lodged a complaint with the Building Practitioners Board (the Board) on 10 August 2016 in respect of Jason Tawhai, Licensed Building Practitioner (the Respondent).
- [2] The complaint alleged that the Respondent has, in relation to building work at [omitted] failed, without good reason, in respect of a building consent that relates to restricted building work that he or she is to carry out (other than as an owner-builder) or supervise, or has carried out (other than as an owner-builder) or supervised, (as the case may be), to provide the persons specified in section 88(2) with a record of work, on completion of the restricted building work, in accordance with section 88(1) (s 317(1)(da)(ii) of the Act).
- [3] The Respondent is a Licensed Building Practitioner with a Carpentry Licence issued 13 June 2014.
- [4] The Board has considered the complaint under the provisions of Part 4 of the Act and the Building Practitioners (Complaints and Disciplinary Procedures) Regulations 2008 (the Regulations).
- [5] The following Board Members were present at the hearing:
- | | | |
|---------------|------------------|---|
| Chris Preston | Chair(Presiding) | Layperson |
| Mel Orange | Board Member | Legal Member appointed under s 345(3) of the Act |
| Bob Monteith | Board Member | Licensed in Carpentry and Site Area of Practice 2 |
- [6] The matter was considered by the Board in Wellington on 11 April 2017 in accordance with the Act, the Regulations and the Board's Complaints Procedures.

- [7] No Board Member declared any conflict of interest in relation to the matters under consideration.

Board Procedure

- [8] The “form of complaint” provided by the Complainant satisfied the requirements of the Regulations.
- [9] On 1 December 2016 the Registrar of the Board prepared a report in accordance with reg 7 and 8 of the Regulations. The purpose of the report is to assist the Board to decide whether it wishes to proceed with the complaint.
- [10] On 24 January 2017 the Board considered the Registrar’s report and in accordance with reg 10 it resolved to proceed with the complaint that the Respondent has failed, without good reason, in respect of a building consent that relates to restricted building work that he or she is to carry out (other than as an owner-builder) or supervise, or has carried out (other than as an owner-builder) or supervised, (as the case may be), to provide the persons specified in section 88(2) with a record of work, on completion of the restricted building work, in accordance with section 88(1) (s 317(1)(da)(ii) of the Act).
- [11] On 24 February 2017 the Respondent was sent a Notice of Hearing outlining that the matter would be dealt with on the basis of the papers before it but that the Respondent could attend by phone or video conference or in person at his own cost.

Function of Disciplinary Action

- [12] The common understanding of the purpose of professional discipline is to uphold the integrity of the profession. The focus is not punishment, but the protection of the public, the maintenance of public confidence and the enforcement of high standards of propriety and professional conduct. Those purposes were recently reiterated by the Supreme Court of the United Kingdom¹.
- [13] In New Zealand the High Court noted in *Dentice v Valuers Registration Board*²:
- Although, in respect of different professions, the nature of the unprofessional or incompetent conduct which will attract disciplinary charges is variously described, there is a common thread of scope and purpose. Such provisions exist to enforce a high standard of propriety and professional conduct; to ensure that no person unfitted because of his or her conduct should be allowed to practise the profession in question; to protect both the public and the profession itself against persons unfit to practise; and to enable the profession or calling, as a body, to ensure that the conduct of members conforms to the standards generally expected of them.*
- [14] In *McLanahan and Tan v The New Zealand Registered Architects Board*³ Collins J. noted that:
- “ ... the disciplinary process does not exist to appease those who are dissatisfied with their architect. The disciplinary process for architects exists to ensure professional standards are maintained in order to protect clients, the profession and the broader community.”*

² [1992] 1 NZLR 720 at p 724

³ [2016] HZHC 2276 at para 164

- [15] The same applies as regards the disciplinary provisions in the Building Act.
- [16] It must also be noted that the Board has jurisdiction only with regard to “the conduct of a licensed building practitioner” and with respect to the grounds for discipline set out in s 317 of the Act. It cannot investigate matters outside of those grounds, does not have any jurisdiction over contractual matters and cannot deal with or resolve disputes between a complainant and the person who is the subject of the complaint.

Substance of the Complaint

- [17] The allegation was that the Respondent failed to provide a record of work on completion of restricted building work.

Evidence

- [18] The Board must be satisfied on the balance of probabilities that the disciplinary offences alleged have been committed. The relevant authority is *Z v Dental Complaints Assessment Committee*⁴ where Justice McGrath in the Supreme Court of New Zealand stated:

[102] The civil standard has been flexibly applied in civil proceedings no matter how serious the conduct that is alleged. In New Zealand it has been emphasised that no intermediate standard of proof exists, between the criminal and civil standards, for application in certain types of civil case. The balance of probabilities still simply means more probable than not. Allowing the civil standard to be applied flexibly has not meant that the degree of probability required to meet the standard changes in serious cases. Rather, the civil standard is flexibly applied because it accommodates serious allegations through the natural tendency to require stronger evidence before being satisfied to the balance of probabilities standard.

[105] The natural tendency to require stronger evidence is not a legal proposition and should not be elevated to one. It simply reflects the reality of what judges do when considering the nature and quality of the evidence in deciding whether an issue has been resolved to “the reasonable satisfaction of the Tribunal”. A factual assessment has to be made in each case. That assessment has regard to the consequences of the facts proved. Proof of a Tribunal’s reasonable satisfaction will, however, never call for that degree of certainty which is necessary to prove a matter in issue beyond reasonable doubt.

- [19] It is to be noted that under s 322 of the Act the Board has relaxed rules of evidence:

322 Board may hear evidence for disciplinary matters

- (1) In relation to a disciplinary matter, the Board may—
- (a) receive as evidence any statement, document, information, or matter that in its opinion may assist it to deal effectively with the subject of the disciplinary matter, whether or not it would be admissible in a court of law.

⁴ [2009] 1 NZLR 1

- [20] The Respondent carried out restricted building work under a building consent. The building work commenced in or about May 2015 and finished in or about September 2015.
- [21] Information provided by the Registrar notes that the Respondent's licence was suspended from 28 July 2015 till 23 November 2015.
- [22] The Complainant, when seeking a code compliance certificate sought a record of work from the Respondent. In her complaint she listed nine voice mail messages and one email request for a record of work between 13 December 2015 and 1 July 2016. She did not receive any response.
- [23] The Respondent was provided with the complaint on 16 August 2016 and was asked to provide a response. He did not respond.
- [24] The Complainant on 16 August 2016 advised that she had received a record of work from the Respondent and had supplied it to the territorial authority.

Boards Conclusion and Reasoning

- [25] There is a statutory requirement under s 88(1) of the Act for a licensed building practitioner to provide a record of work to the owner and the territorial authority on completion of restricted building work⁵.
- [26] Failing to provide a record of work is a ground for discipline under s 317(1)(da)(ii) of the Act. In order to find that ground for discipline proven, the Board need only consider whether the Respondent had "good reason" for not providing a record of work on "completion" of the restricted building work.
- [27] The Board discussed issues with regard to records of work in its decision C2-01170⁶ and gave guidelines to the profession as to who must provide a record of work, what a record of work is for, when it is to be provided, the level of detail that must be provided, whom a record of work must be provided to and what might constitute a good reason for not providing a record of work.
- [28] The starting point with a record of work is that it is a mandatory statutory requirement whenever restricted building work under a building consent is carried out or supervised by a licensed building practitioner (other than as an owner-builder). Each and every licensed building practitioner who carries out or supervises restricted building work must provide a record of work.
- [29] The statutory provisions do not stipulate a timeframe for the licensed person to provide a record of work. The provisions in s 88(1) simply state "on completion of the restricted building work ...".
- [30] In this instance the work was completed in September 2015 and the record of work was not provided till August 2016 almost one year later. Given this the elements of the disciplinary offence have been made out.
- [31] In this respect it must also be noted that the Respondent was not licensed for the whole of the period when the restricted building work was carried out. As such any record of work can only be provided for the period when he was licensed being that period up until 28 July 2015. Any restricted building work carried out after that date would be in contravention of s 314 of the Act as, under s 297 of the Act, the Respondent was no longer able to carry out restricted building work:

⁵ Restricted Building Work is defined by the Building (Definition of Restricted Building Work) Order 2011

⁶ Licensed Building Practitioners Board Case Decision C2-01170 15 December 2015

Section 297 Effect of licensing suspension

- (1) A person is not a licensed building practitioner, for the purposes of this Act, for the period for which his or her [licensing] is suspended.
- (2) At the end of the period of suspension, the person's [licensing] is immediately revived (unless there is some other ground to suspend or cancel that person's [licensing] under this subpart).

[32] Section 314 of the Act provides:

Section 314 Offences relating to licensing

- (1) A person commits an offence if the person holds himself or herself out as a person who is licensed to carry out or supervise building work or building inspection work, or building work or building inspection work of a certain type, while not being so licensed.

[33] The Ministry of Business Innovation and Employment has jurisdiction over s 314 and the Board recommends it consider further investigations into the matter.

[34] Finally s 317(1)(da)(ii) of the Act provides for a defence of the licensed building practitioner having a “good reason” for failing to provide a record of work. If they can, on the balance of probabilities, prove to the Board that one exists then it is open to the Board to find that a disciplinary offence has not been committed. Each case will be decided by the Board on its own merits but the threshold for a good reason is high. No good reasons were put forward.

Board Decision

[35] The Board has decided that the Respondent has failed, without good reason, in respect of a building consent that relates to restricted building work that he or she is to carry out (other than as an owner-builder) or supervise, or has carried out (other than as an owner-builder) or supervised, (as the case may be), to provide the persons specified in section 88(2) with a record of work, on completion of the restricted building work, in accordance with section 88(1) (s 317(1)(da)(ii) of the Act) and should be disciplined.

Disciplinary Penalties

[36] The grounds upon which a Licensed Building Practitioner may be disciplined are set out in s 317 of the Act. If one or more of the grounds in s 317 applies, then the Board may apply disciplinary penalties as set out in s 318 of the Actⁱ.

[37] The Board's Complaints Procedures allow the Board either to set out the Board's decision on disciplinary penalty, publication and costs or to invite the Respondent to make submissions on those matters. The Respondent has not engaged in the disciplinary process and it is unlikely he will as regards penalty. Therefore, given the nature of the disciplinary offending and the level of penalty decided on the Board has decided to dispense with calling for further submissions. The Respondent will, however, be given an opportunity to comment on the level of penalty, costs and on publication should he consider there are further matters which the Board should take into consideration.

- [38] As stated earlier the purpose of professional discipline is to uphold the integrity of the profession; the focus is not punishment, but the enforcement of a high standard of propriety and professional conduct.
- [39] The Board does note, however, that the High Court in *Patel v Complaints Assessment Committee*⁷ has commented on the role of "punishment" in giving penalty orders stating that punitive orders are, at times, necessary to uphold professional standards:
- [27] Such penalties may be appropriate because disciplinary proceedings inevitably involve issues of deterrence. They are designed in part to deter both the offender and others in the profession from offending in a like manner in the future.*
- [28] I therefore propose to proceed on the basis that, although the protection of the public is a very important consideration, nevertheless the issues of punishment and deterrence must also be taken into account in selecting the appropriate penalty to be imposed.*
- [40] In *Lochhead v Ministry of Business Innovation and Employment*⁸, an appeal from a decision of the Board, the court, in respect of penalty noted:
- [34] This is not a case to which the statutory principles of sentencing set out in the Sentencing Act 2002 apply. Nevertheless, the current approach adopted in criminal courts to the task of assessment of penalties to be imposed has significant advantages of simplicity and transparency compared to other approaches. Conceptual similarities between penalty assessment in this area, and the task of penalty assessment in other areas of health and safety legislation, or indeed the Building Act itself, are obvious.*
- [35] The modern approach to penalty assessment involves a multi stage process. Firstly, an assessment of the seriousness of the transgression is undertaken, often by reference to whether the offending conduct falls at the lower, mid-range or upper end of the scale of possible offending. That assessment will assist in the identification of an appropriate starting point on a principled basis. Secondly, aggravating features which may justify an uplift are identified and assessed. Thirdly, any mitigating features which may justify a reduction in penalty are identified and assessed. Finally, an overall assessment is made, often including the effect of the proposed penalty on the person receiving it, and such adjustments made as may be required in the particular circumstances of the case. See for example Department of Labour v Hanham & Philp Contractors Ltd & Ors (HC ChCh, CRI 2008-409-000002, 17 December 2008, Randerson and Pankhurst JJ).*
- [41] Whilst the non-provision of a record of work is not the most serious of disciplinary conduct the Board has undertaken an extensive education and communication programme to ensure licensed building practitioners are aware of their obligations and responsibilities as regards records of work. That the Respondent is either still ignorant of his obligations or is willing to ignore them is disappointing and an aggravating factor.

⁸ 3 November 2016, CIV-2016-070-000492, [2016] NZDC 21288, Judge Ingram

- [42] In all the circumstances the Board considers a fine of $1,500 is appropriate. This is consistent with fines awarded by the Board for record of work matters with similar aggravating and mitigating circumstances.

Costs

- [43] Under s 318(4) the Board may require the Respondent “to pay the costs and expenses of, and incidental to, the inquiry by the Board.”
- [44] The Respondent should note that the High Court has held that 50% of total reasonable costs should be taken as a starting point in disciplinary proceedings and that the percentage can then be adjusted up or down having regard to the particular circumstances of each case. The judgment in *Cooray v The Preliminary Proceedings Committee*⁹ included the following:

“It would appear from the cases before the Court that the Council in other decisions made by it has in a general way taken 50% of total reasonable costs as a guide to a reasonable order for costs and has in individual cases where it has considered it is justified gone beyond that figure. In other cases, where it has considered that such an order is not justified because of the circumstances of the case, and counsel has referred me to at least two cases where the practitioner pleaded guilty and lesser orders were made, the Council has made a downward adjustment.”

- [45] The judgment in *Macdonald v Professional Conduct Committee*¹⁰ confirmed the approach taken in Cooray. This was further confirmed in a complaint to the Plumbers, Gasfitters and Drainlayers’ Board, *Owen v Wynyard*¹¹ where the judgment referred with approval to the passages from Cooray and Macdonald in upholding a 24% costs order made by the Board.
- [46] In *Collie v Nursing Council of New Zealand*¹² where the order for costs in the tribunal was 50% of actual costs and expenses the High Court noted that:

But for an order for costs made against a practitioner, the profession is left to carry the financial burden of the disciplinary proceedings, and as a matter of policy that is not appropriate. It is not hard to see that the award of costs may have imposed some real burden upon the appellant but it is not fixed at a level which disturbs the Court’s conscience as being excessive. Accordingly it is confirmed.

- [47] The matter was dealt with on the papers. This has reduced the costs incurred but costs have, nevertheless been incurred. It is appropriate, therefore, for the Respondent to make a contribution toward the costs of the investigation and hearing. The Board’s normal position with hearings on the papers is to order the Respondent to pay costs of $500 and it sees no reason to depart from this in the present case.

Publication of Name

- [48] As a consequence of its decision the Respondent’s name and the disciplinary outcomes will be recorded in the public register maintained as part of the Licenced Building Practitioners’ scheme as is required by the Act.

[49] The Board is also able, under s 318(5) of the Act, to order publication over and above the public register:

In addition to requiring the Registrar to notify in the register an action taken by the Board under this section, the Board may publicly notify the action in any other way it thinks fit.

[50] As a general principle such further public notification may be required where the Board perceives a need for the public and/or the profession to know of the findings of a disciplinary hearing. This is in addition to the Respondent being named in this decision.

[51] Within New Zealand there is a principle of open justice and open reporting which is enshrined in the Bill of Rights Act 1990¹³. The Criminal Procedure Act 2011 sets out grounds for suppression within the criminal jurisdiction¹⁴. Within the disciplinary hearing jurisdiction the courts have stated that the provisions in the Criminal Procedure Act do not apply but can be instructive¹⁵. In *N v Professional Conduct Committee of Medical Council*¹⁶ the High Court pointed to the following factors:

The tribunal must be satisfied that suppression is desirable having regard to the public and private interests and consideration can be given to factors such as:

- issues around the identity of other persons such as family and employers;
- identity of persons involved and their privacy and the impact of publication on them; and
- the risk of unfairly impugning the name of other practitioners if the responsible person is not named.

[52] The courts have also stated that an adverse finding in a disciplinary case usually requires that the name of the practitioner be published in the public interest¹⁷. It is, however, common practice in disciplinary proceedings to protect the names of other persons involved as naming them does not assist the public interest.

[53] The Board does not consider that any further publication is required.

Penalty, Costs and Publication Decision

[54] For the reasons set out above, the Board directs that:

- Penalty: Pursuant to s 318(1)(f) of the Building Act 2004, the Respondent is ordered to pay a fine of $1,500.
- Costs: Pursuant to s 318(4) of the Act, the Respondent is ordered to pay costs of $500 (GST included) towards the costs of, and incidental to, the inquiry of the Board.
- Publication: The Registrar shall record the Board's action in the Register of Licensed Building Practitioners in accordance with s 301(1)(iii) of the Act.

In terms of section 318(5) of the Act, there will not be action taken to publicly notify the Board's action, except for the note in the register and the Respondent being named in this decision.

Submissions on Penalty Costs and Publication

- [55] The Board invites the Respondent to make written submissions on the matters of disciplinary penalties, costs and publication up until close of business on 23 June 2017.
- [56] If no submissions are received then this decision will become final.
- [57] If submissions are received then the Board will meet and consider those submissions prior to coming to a final decision on penalty, costs and publication.

Non Payment of Fines or Costs

- [58] The Respondent should take note that the Board may, under s 319 of the Act, suspend or cancel a licensed building practitioner's licence if fines or costs imposed as a result of disciplinary action are not paid. Section 319 provides:

319 Non-payment of fines or costs

If money payable by a person under section 318(1)(f) or (4) remains unpaid for 60 days or more after the date of the order, the Board may—

- (a) cancel the person's [licensing] and direct the Registrar to remove the person's name from the register; or*
- (b) suspend the person's [licensing] until the person pays the money and, if he or she does not do so within 12 months, cancel his or her [licensing] and direct the Registrar to remove his or her name from the register.*

Right of Appeal

- [59] The right to appeal Board decisions is provided for in s 330(2) of the Actⁱ.
