Summary of the Board’s Decision

- [1] The Respondent failed to provide a Record of Work on completion of restricted building work. He is fined $1,500 and ordered to pay costs of $500.

The Charges

- [2] On 15 September 2021, the Board received a Registrar’s Report in respect of a Complaint about the conduct of the Respondent.
- [3] Under regulation 10 of the Complaints Regulations, the Board must, on receipt of the Registrar’s Report, decide whether to proceed no further with the complaint because regulation 9 of the Complaints Regulations applies.
- [4] Having received the report, the Board decided that regulation 9 did not apply. Under regulation 10 the Board is required to hold a hearing.
- [5] The Board’s jurisdiction is that of an inquiry. Complaints are not prosecuted before the Board. Rather, it is for the Board to carry out any further investigation that it considers is necessary prior to it making a decision. In this respect, the Act provides that the Board may regulate its own procedures¹. It has what is described as a summary jurisdiction in that the Board has a degree of flexibility in how it deals with matters; it retains an inherent jurisdiction beyond that set out in the enabling legislation². As such, it may depart from its normal procedures if it considers doing so would achieve the purposes of the Act, and it is not contrary to the interests of natural justice to do so.

- [6] In this instance, the Board has decided that a formal hearing is not necessary. The Board considers that there is sufficient evidence before it to allow it to make a decision on the papers.
- [7] The Board did, however, note that there may be further evidence in the possession of persons involved in the matter. To that end, it issued a draft Board decision. The Respondent and/or Complainant were provided with an opportunity to comment on the Board's draft findings and to present further evidence prior to the Board making a final decision. If the Board had directed, or the Respondent had requested an in-person hearing, then the Board advised that one would have been scheduled.

Disciplinary Offences Under Consideration

- [8] On the basis of the Registrar's Report, the Respondent's conduct that the Board resolved to investigate was that the Respondent had failed, without good reason, in respect of a building consent that relates to restricted building work that he or she is to carry out (other than as an owner-builder) or supervise, or has carried out (other than as an owner-builder) or supervised, (as the case may be), to provide the persons specified in section 88(2) with a record of work, on completion of the restricted building work, in accordance with section 88(1) (s 317(1)(da)(ii) of the Act).

Function of Disciplinary Action

- [9] The common understanding of the purpose of professional discipline is to uphold the integrity of the profession. The focus is not punishment, but the protection of the public, the maintenance of public confidence and the enforcement of high standards of propriety and professional conduct. Those purposes were recently reiterated by the Supreme Court of the United Kingdom in *R v Institute of Chartered Accountants in England and Wales*³ and in New Zealand in *Dentice v Valuers Registration Board*⁴.
- [10] Disciplinary action under the Act is not designed to redress issues or disputes between a complainant and a respondent. In McLanahan and Tan v The New Zealand Registered Architects Board,⁵ Collins J. noted that:

"... the disciplinary process does not exist to appease those who are dissatisfied ... The disciplinary process ... exists to ensure professional standards are maintained in order to protect clients, the profession and the broader community."

Evidence

- [11] The Board must be satisfied on the balance of probabilities that the disciplinary offences alleged have been committed⁶. Under section 322 of the Act, the Board has relaxed rules of evidence that allow it to receive evidence that may not be admissible in a court of law.
- [12] The Respondent was engaged to carry out building work on a new residential dwelling at [Omitted], Auckland, under a building consent. The building work included restricted building work for which a Record of Work must be provided on completion. The exact dates during which the Respondent's building work was carried out are not able to be definitively stated on the evidence before the Board. It is known, however, that the building consent was issued on 14 December 2016, and that invoices rendered by the Respondent and provided to the Board span December 2017 to March 2018. The Respondent stated in an email to the Investigator dated 20 April 2021 that – "The construction took place many years ago. I cannot recall actual date and time."
- [13] The Complainant's lawyer Tae Wok Kwon requested the Record of Work from the Respondent by email in February and March 2021 but did not receive any response. The Respondent emailed the Investigator on 20 April 2021 and stated that he was involved in the construction of framing, truss, and weatherboard as a casual labourer. His reason for not providing a Record of Work was that – "There were different groups of builders working at the site before and after me. Therefore, I can not provide the certified ROW as I was not in charge for the whole project... I DID NOT witness the construction of the whole project and I DID not supervise for others who were involved."
- [14] The Territorial Authority's file was obtained on 3 June 2021. It did not contain a Record of Work for the Respondent. Included in the file were Residential Final Inspections dated 21 February 2020, 26 February 2020 and 27 October 2020. The last two inspections were recorded as passed inspections.

Further Evidence and Submissions Received

- [15] Following the Board issuing a Draft Decision, it received a submission from the Respondent. He stated that he agreed with the decision and would comply and provide a Record of Work.

Conclusion and Reasoning

- [16] The Board has decided that the Respondent has failed, without good reason, in respect of a building consent that relates to restricted building work that he or she is to carry out (other than as an owner-builder) or supervise, or has carried out (other than as an owner-builder) or supervised, (as the case may be), to provide the persons specified in section 88(2) with a record of work, on completion of the restricted building work, in accordance with section 88(1) (s 317(1)(da)(ii) of the Act) and should be disciplined

- [17] There is a statutory requirement under section 88(1) of the Building Act 2004 for a licensed building practitioner to provide a record of work to the owner and the territorial authority on completion of restricted building work⁷.
- [18] Failing to provide a record of work is a ground for discipline under section 317(1) (da)(ii) of the Act. In order to find that ground for discipline proven, the Board need only consider whether the Respondent had “good reason” for not providing a record of work on “completion” of the restricted building work.
- [19] The Board discussed issues with regard to records of work in its decision C2-01170⁸ and gave guidelines to the profession as to who must provide a record of work, what a record of work is for, when it is to be provided, the level of detail that must be provided, who a record of work must be provided to and what might constitute a good reason for not providing a record of work.
- [20] The starting point with a record of work is that it is a mandatory statutory requirement whenever restricted building work under a building consent is carried out or supervised by a licensed building practitioner (other than as an owner-builder). Each and every licensed building practitioner who carries out restricted building work must provide a record of work.
- [21] The statutory provisions do not stipulate a timeframe for the licenced person to provide a record of work. The provisions in section 88(1) simply states “on completion of the restricted building work ...”. As was noted by Justice Muir in *Ministry of Business Innovation and Employment v Bell*⁹ “... the only relevant precondition to the obligations of a licenced building practitioner under s 88 is that he/she has completed their work”.
- [22] As to when completion will have occurred is a question of fact in each case. The exact dates of the Respondent’s building work have not been established on the evidence available to the Board, but it is clear that the Respondent’s involvement with the building work (even on his own evidence) ended several years ago. Moreover, it was clear from the Territorial Authority records that the building work under the building consent had progressed and had been completed. A Record of Work has still not been provided by the Respondent as of June 2021.
- [23] On this basis, the Board finds that the Record of Work was not provided on completion as required, and the disciplinary offence has been committed.
- [24] Section 317(1) (da)(ii) of the Act provides for a defence of the licenced building practitioner having a “good reason” for failing to provide a record of work. If they can, on the balance of probabilities, prove to the Board that one exists, then it is open to the Board to find that a disciplinary offence has not been committed. Each case will be decided by the Board on its own merits, but the threshold for a good reason is high.

⁷ Restricted Building Work is defined by the Building (Definition of Restricted Building Work) Order 2011

- [25] In this instance, the Respondent suggests that as he worked as a casual labourer and was not in charge of the whole project, he cannot provide a Record of Work.
- [26] The Board notes that section 88 of the Act states, “Each licensed building practitioner who carries out ... or supervises restricted building work ...must ...provide ...a record of work ...”. The use of the word “each” makes it clear that every licensed building practitioner who carries out restricted building work must complete a record of work for the work they did or supervised. This is so that there is a complete record of all the licensed persons who have been involved in the restricted building work. As such, even if there is more than one licensed building practitioner carrying out restricted building work, they must both provide a record of work. Their records of work should delineate what each did. Licensed building practitioners should now be aware of their obligations to provide them, and their provision should be a matter of routine.
- [27] Further, the Respondent, in his submissions, has not understood what a record of work is for. It is not a statement as to the quality or compliance of the restricted building work. It is not any form of sign off or undertaking. It is not a statement as to any person’s work other than that carried out by the Respondent himself. In this respect, it is to be noted that a record of work given by a licensed building practitioner does not, of itself create any liability that would not otherwise exist as section 88(4) provides:
- (4) A record of work given under subsection (1) does not, of itself, —
 - (a) create any liability in relation to any matter to which the record of work relates; or
 - (b) give rise to any civil liability to the owner that would not otherwise exist if the licensed building practitioner were not required to provide the record of work.
- [28] It is also important to note that a record of work provides an opportunity to not only record what was carried out or supervised but also what was not done, completed, or supervised. As such, if the Respondent had concerns about future liability for work that he had not carried out or supervised, he could have used the record of work to capture those concerns
- [29] The Board, accordingly, finds that no “good reason” for the non-provision of the Record of Work has been established.

Decision on Penalty, Costs and Publication

- [30] Having found that one or more of the grounds in section 317 applies, the Board must, under section 318 of the Actⁱ, consider the appropriate disciplinary penalty, whether the Respondent should be ordered to pay any costs and whether the decision should be published.
- [31] The matter was dealt with on the papers. Included was information relevant to penalty, costs and publication, and the Board decided to make indicative orders and give the Respondent an opportunity to provide further evidence or submissions relevant to the indicative orders.
- [32] In response to the Draft Decision the Respondent made no submission on penalty or costs but requested that his name not be published.

Penalty

- [33] The purpose of professional discipline is to uphold the integrity of the profession; the focus is not punishment but the enforcement of a high standard of propriety and professional conduct. The Board does note, however, that the High Court in *Patel v Complaints Assessment Committee*¹⁰ commented on the role of “punishment” in giving penalty orders stating that punitive orders are, at times, necessary to provide a deterrent and to uphold professional standards. The Court noted:

[28] I therefore propose to proceed on the basis that, although the protection of the public is a very important consideration, nevertheless the issues of punishment and deterrence must also be taken into account in selecting the appropriate penalty to be imposed.

- [34] The Board also notes that in Lochhead v Ministry of Business Innovation and Employment,¹¹ the Court noted that whilst the statutory principles of sentencing set out in the Sentencing Act 2002 do not apply to the Building Act, they have the advantage of simplicity and transparency. The Court recommended adopting a starting point for a penalty based on the seriousness of the disciplinary offending prior to considering any aggravating and/or mitigating factors.
- [35] Record of work matters are at the lower end of the disciplinary scale. The Board’s normal starting point for a failure to provide a record of work is a fine of $1,500, an amount which it considers will deter others from such behaviour. There are no aggravating nor mitigating factors present. As such, the Board sees no reason to depart from the draft order. The fine is set at $1,500.

Costs

- [36] Under section 318(4) the Board may require the Respondent “to pay the costs and expenses of, and incidental to, the inquiry by the Board.”
- [37] The Respondent should note that the High Court has held that 50% of total reasonable costs should be taken as a starting point in disciplinary proceedings and that the percentage can then be adjusted up or down having regard to the particular circumstances of each case¹².

¹⁰ HC Auckland CIV-2007-404-1818, 13 August 2007 at p 27

¹¹ 3 November 2016, CIV-2016-070-000492, [2016] NZDC 21288

- [38] In Collie v Nursing Council of New Zealand,¹³ where the order for costs in the tribunal was 50% of actual costs and expenses, the High Court noted that:

But for an order for costs made against a practitioner, the profession is left to carry the financial burden of the disciplinary proceedings, and as a matter of policy that is not appropriate.

- [39] In Kenneth Michael Daniels v Complaints Committee 2 of the Wellington District Law Society,¹⁴ the High Court noted:

[46] All cases referred to in Cooray were medical cases and the Judge was careful to note that the 50 per cent was the general approach that the Medical Council took. We do not accept that if there was any such approach, it is necessarily to be taken in proceedings involving other disciplinary bodies. Much will depend upon the time involved, actual expenses incurred, attitude of the practitioner bearing in mind that whilst the cost of a disciplinary action by a professional body must be something of a burden imposed upon its members, those members should not be expected to bear too large a measure where a practitioner is shown to be guilty of serious misconduct.

[47] Costs orders made in proceedings involving law practitioners are not to be determined by any mathematical approach. In some cases 50 per cent will be too high, in others insufficient.

- [40] The Board has adopted an approach to costs that uses a scale based on 50% of the average costs of different categories of hearings, simple, moderate, and complex. The current matter was a simple investigation. Adjustments based on the High Court decisions above are then made.

- [41] The Board notes the matter was dealt with on the papers. There has, however, been costs incurred investigating the matter, producing the Registrar's Report and in the Board making its decision. The costs have been less than those that would have been incurred had a full hearing been held. As such, the Board will order that costs of $500 be paid by the Respondent. The Board considers that this is a reasonable sum for the Respondent to pay toward the costs and expenses of, and incidental to, the inquiry by the Board.

Publication

- [42] As a consequence of its decision, the Respondent's name and the disciplinary outcomes will be recorded in the public register maintained as part of the Licensed Building Practitioners' scheme as is required by the Act¹⁵.
- [43] The Respondent, in his response to the Draft Decision, requested that his name not be published. However, the Board is required by statute to record the disciplinary action and the Respondent's name in the public register.
- [44] The Board is also able, under section 318(5) of the Act, to order publication over and above the public register:
- In addition to requiring the Registrar to notify in the register an action taken by the Board under this section, the Board may publicly notify the action in any other way it thinks fit.*
- [45] As a general principle, such further public notification may be required where the Board perceives a need for the public and/or the profession to know of the findings of a disciplinary hearing. This is in addition to the Respondent being named in this decision.
- [46] Within New Zealand, there is a principle of open justice and open reporting which is enshrined in the Bill of Rights Act 1990¹⁶. The Criminal Procedure Act 2011 sets out grounds for suppression within the criminal jurisdiction¹⁷. Within the disciplinary hearing jurisdiction, the courts have stated that the provisions in the Criminal Procedure Act do not apply but can be instructive¹⁸. The High Court provided guidance as to the types of factors to be taken into consideration in *N v Professional Conduct Committee of Medical Council*¹⁹.
- [47] The courts have also stated that an adverse finding in a disciplinary case usually requires that the name of the practitioner be published in the public interest²⁰. It is, however, common practice in disciplinary proceedings to protect the names of other persons involved as naming them does not assist the public interest.
- [48] Based on the above, the Board will not order further publication.

Penalty: Pursuant to section 318(1)(f) of the Building Act 2004, the Respondent is ordered to pay a fine of $1,500.

Costs: Pursuant to section 318(4) of the Act, the Respondent is ordered to pay costs of $500 (GST included) towards the costs of, and incidental to, the inquiry of the Board.

In terms of section 318(5) of the Act, there will not be action taken to publicly notify the Board's action, except for the note in the Register and the Respondent being named in this decision.

[50] The Respondent should note that the Board may, under section 319 of the Act, suspend or cancel a licensed building practitioner's licence if fines or costs imposed as a result of disciplinary action are not paid
